

MAGNETIC PRESS FORMING FRAME

SKU: 2171

The Durston Press Magnetic Forming Frame is a fundamental part of the bracelet forming toolkit, specifically designed for use with the Convex, Concave, and Flat/Curved Forming Die Sets. This indispensable two-part frame is key to the functionality of your Durston Press, enabling precise and efficient bracelet forming.

The frame includes a U-shaped part and a magnetic bar. The magnetic bar effortlessly connects to the U-shaped part, forming a robust and practical frame.

This magnetic feature is crucial for secure attachment during use, while also allowing for quick detachment and easy transition between different forming tasks.

The ease of changing between dies, provided by the magnetic design, is invaluable in a workshop environment where efficiency and smooth operation are essential. The frame's design not only simplifies the bracelet forming process but also ensures consistent and high-quality results in your jewellery making projects.

Additionally, extra magnetic bars are available for purchase separately, offering even greater flexibility and convenience for your various project needs.
